In the sky, under the sea, local quadriplegic says 'Can do'

By ALISON ALOISIO

Building a house and moving in is time-consuming for any of us, but over the past month, Patrick Carleton Harris of Woodstock has worked it in between skydiving and SCUBA diving.

That's impressive enough. It's more impressive considering Harris is a quadriplegic.

Harris is a Bar Harbor native who was paralyzed in a car crash in 2001. He drew media attention statewide last year when he drove his motorized wheelchair from one end of Maine to the other.

That trek highlighted his support for stem cell research, which could provide hope for recovery for the paralyzed.

Since then, he's continued to supervise the construction of his house in Bryant Pond, which he had started work on himself before he was hurt. At the same time, he's also been pursuing physical activities that anyone would find challenging.

In mid-August, strapped to a skydiver from Sky Dive New England of Lebanon, Harris jumped out of a plane at 14,000 feet.

"It was great," he said.

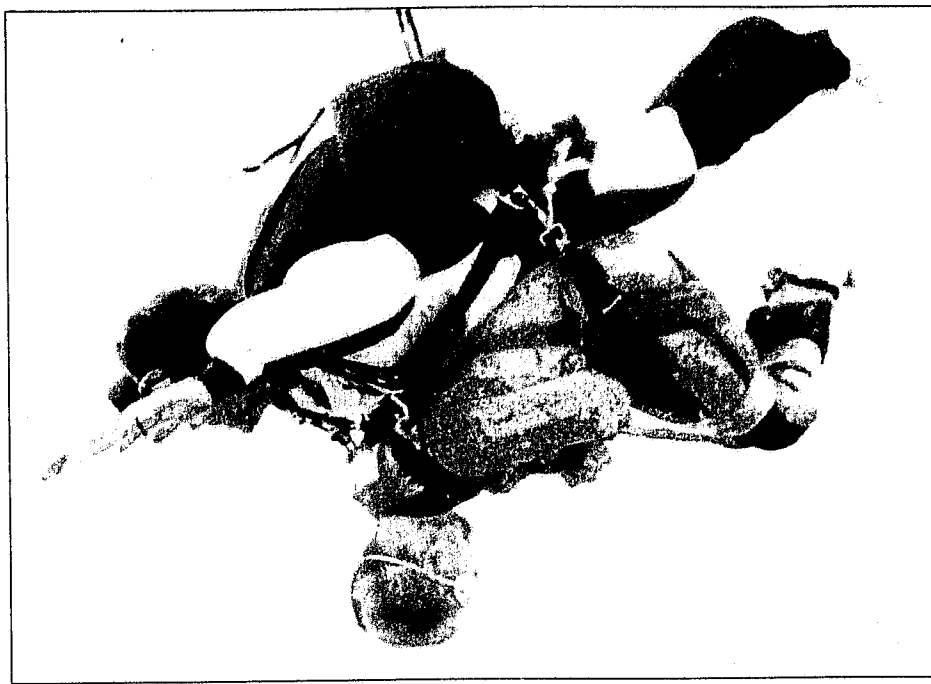

So great that he's planning to do it again in a couple of weeks — this time from 20,000 feet.

Such activities are not new to Harris, who was a mountain climber, equestrian, cyclist, sailor and body builder before his injury.

He is also a licensed SCUBA diver. In late August, he went diving off Cape Elizabeth. Two other divers, one on each side, accompanied him beneath the waves.

His experiences in sports as a quadriplegic will be included in a book he's writing, "Quads Can Do — A Social Worker's Journey Navigating Paralysis."

Complaints about fuel pump reveal clashing views of who really owns the Bethel airport

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The problems are being fixed, but hard feelings linger, as do differing views of exactly whose facility the Bethel Regional Airport is.

Bethel Airport Authority member John Head walked out of a board meeting last week, rather than stay and discuss comments he and fellow board member Arlan Jodrey made at the BAA's August meeting.

The comments in question were in response to concerns raised by Tony Milligan of Rumford, a long-time airport user and volunteer.

At the BAA's July meeting Milligan had complained about the fuel pump at the airport not having been calibrated since it was installed in October 2002. State law requires commercial fuel pumps to be calibrated annually.

Milligan, an agent for the Maine Drug Enforcement Authority, said several other aviators, knowing he was in law enforcement, had come to him complaining of the situation, and about the town's failure to correct it.

"I then informed the Board that, as a law enforcement officer, I have a duty to enforce the law and ordered them to comply with the law within 10 days by calling the State Department of Agriculture to arrange certification and calibration of the fuel system."

Voters opt for smaller surplus, lower taxes

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel's property tax rate for the current fiscal year ('05) now appears likely to drop, rather than increase by the considerable amount projected following Town Meeting in June.

At a special Town Meeting Monday, voters opted to take $400,000 from undesignated fund balance and use the money to reduce the property tax rate.

The tax rate for FY '04 was $15.50. Following June's Town Meeting — at which no money was taken from fund balance to reduce taxes — that rate was projected to jump to $17.34.

But the first of two articles on the warrant for Monday's special Town Meeting gave them the option of drawing down fund balance, and they did.

And in opting to take $400,000, the voters present passed up recommendations from the Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee to take out smaller amounts (thus leaving more in fund balance for unforeseen expenses).

The selectmen recommended taking only $250,000, which would result in a projected tax rate of $16.13. Budget com-

Troopers focusing on roads where speed has injured and killed

By ALISON ALOISIO

Maine State Police are using a new map to help them better focus their patrols. The map shows areas where serious, speed-related accidents happen most frequently.

In the Bethel region, roads where such crashes have occurred relatively often in recent years include Route 26 in Woodstock; Route 5 in Albany; Route 219 in Greenwood and West Paris; and Route 232 between the Bethel/Woodstock town line and Rumford. (see map, page 2).

The map was compiled in a joint effort by Maine's Department of Transportation and Department of Public Safety.

It plots speed-related accidents that resulted in injury or death. The crashes took place between 2001 and 2003 — but only during the months of May through November.

Winter accidents were not included, because they can be related to weather conditions.

Drivers urged to use sense near horses

By ALISON ALOISIO

Area horseback riders who share the road with cars and trucks are asking drivers to use a little less horsepower when they pass them.

Carole Mason, who lives on the North Road in Bethel, owns three horses. She teaches riding lessons to children and adults. Much of the riding takes place in a ring on her property, located about three miles from Route 2.

Sometimes, however, she takes her pupils to a trail in the woods. Getting there means riding about a quarter mile along the road. And several times over the past two years, it's been a scary ride. This summer, for example, she was riding her horse and leading — with a tether — and he reared," she said.

Fortunately, the girl's horse had a more placid temperament and didn't react. Mason

She said some drivers think it's best to get around a horse as quickly as possible. But that's not the case, she said. It's safer to slow down.

State law requires that drivers traveling in the same direction as a horse or other animal "use reasonable caution" in passing the animal.

And if a driver approaching from the other direction sees a horse that appears to be frightened, the driver must stop if the rider puts his hand up to signal.

Mason said there's generally been an increase in trafan 11-year-old girl on another horse.

A dump truck approached from the rear, and Mason motioned to the driver to slow down. Instead, he speeded up.

"The noise of the empty dump truck scared my horse, got her animal under control, and they continued on.

Loud trucks are not the only problem for the riders. "Last summer, I almost got hit by a car," said Mason. "I'm not asking for the middle of the road. We get over as far as we can."

VANCE RICHARDSON

To the Editor:

The recent death of Vance Richardson brings to mind pleasant memories of his English class during my freshman year at Gould. He placed strong emphasis on vocabulary development, which I found exciting as I learned all kinds of new words and how they might be used in one's writing. The dictionary became among my most valued possessions. For routine reference, I still use the Merriam Webster Collegiate I acquired during this period. Each time I open it my mind flashes to Vance's influence in making this book such an essential part of everyday life.

I saw my first unabridged dictionary at Gould, which began a lifelong interest in dictionaries of all kinds. Currently, I have several shelves of dictionaries that are frequently consulted for all kinds of arcane information.

Beginning with my sophomore year, Vance Richardson served as the boys' guidance counselor at Gould. I always found him helpful and understanding as I planned my course during those years.

Vance and his wife Janet would later become charter members of the Bethel Historical Society. With his death, there remain only four of the original seventeen who worked with Eva Bean in founding the society.

I will always be grateful to Vance for his encouragement during my Gould years and his role in helping Eva start the organization that has grown to be so well-known today.

HAZARDOUS WASTE DISPOSAL

To the Editor:

This year Bethel Newry, and Hanover were not permitted to locally collect household hazardous waste and transport it by town truck to a central location such as Lewiston or Auburn, as had been possible in previous years.

We hope that the previous system can be resumed next year, or possibly an alternate system where a licensed hazardous waste organization comes here to collect.

Anyone with an urgent need to dispose of something immediately, rather than keeping it until next year, should contact the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments (AVCOG) (783-9186).

They can register you to participate in the Lewiston collection (Sept. 25) or Farmington collection (Oct. 2). There will be a charge of $24 or $25 per five-gallon unit of hazardous waste.

THANKS, ARLENE AND RANDY

To the Editor:

This past Wednesday at 4 a.m. I was awakened by chest pressure. When pills didn't help, we called 911. Within a few minutes the Bethel ambulance arrived and Arlene Greenleaf and Randy Grondin had me on the way to Stephens Memorial Hospital. On arrival, they took over.

The purpose of my letter is to show my appreciation to Arlene and Randy for getting me there so quickly and comfortably. I know there are many who have received the same treatment. We are so lucky to have such well-trained people to care for us when we need it.

Thank you, Arlene and Randy, and others who are trained to do the same.

HARVEST FEST AND COOK-OFF THANKS

To the Editor:

The 7th annual Harvest Fest and Chowdah Cook-off was a huge success despite mostly steady rain. Spirits remained high — the crafters, patrons, restaurateurs, and musicians all grinned and bore it, perhaps realizing that this was not a hurricane and rain happens. The chamber could not pull off this event, which brings people to the area and delights residents too, without the amazing volunteer efforts of so many.

Twelve restaurants donated five gallons of their best chowder. A huge thank you goes to The Bethel Inn and Country Club, Bethel's Best, The Birches Grill, Cho Sun, Cinnamon Stick Café, The Good Food Store, Liam's, Phoenix House & Well, Rebel Family Restaurant, S.S. Milton, The Sudbury Inn, and Sunday River Brewing Company. The Judges' Choice winner for the second straight year was The Birches Grill with Blue Ribbon New England Clam Chowder. The People's Choice winner was The Sudbury Inn with Grilled Seafood Chowder.

Nineteen apple pies were judged and then slices were sold to Harvest Fest attendees in the second annual Apple Pie Contest. Many thanks to the following pie bakers: Sarah Dunham, Darlene Baker, Ginny Walker, Fred Coseglia, Betty Gilbert, Anne Harrington, Jack Arbuckle, Carol Nielson, Larry Risko, Bev Sylvester, and Telstar High School's Consumer Science classes, taught by Lisa Pivin, entered nine pies. The students who baked them were Kayla Daye, Shaun Hunt, Jeremy Duguay, Kara Jacques, Tiffany Jordan, Lee Martin, Brian Piawlock, Megan Bailey, Chelsey Bean, Roy DePasquale, Maranda Gould, Mary Henley, Crystal Herrick, Allen Irons, Brandon James, Whitney James, Cody Ladd, Kenny Marshall, Nicole McInerney, April Tuttle, JJ Whitman, Justin Barton, Jordan Bennett, Clayton Coverdale, Sarah Daye, Megan Friel, Jasmine Fyrberg, Matt Hall, Jason McAvo, Brandon Waltman, Mary Wentworth, Trissa Twomey.

The winner in the traditional pie category was Telstar High School, Period 1 — Introduction to Foods Class: Tiffany Jordan, Kara Jacques, Shaun Hunt, and Lee Martin. The winner in the non-traditional class was Carol Nielson. The professional class was won by Bev Sylvester of The Sudbury Inn. The judges for both contests were Alexandra Adler from L'Auberge Country Inn and Bistro and Ken Poulin and Rick Hafner from U.S. Foodservice.

Many volunteers made light work of the many tasks. The chamber extends kudos to Dave Freiday, Bill Tout, Rene McGrew, Mike Lawlor, Reggie Brown, Jette Black, Dillon Gillies, Margo Reis, Darlene Ginsberg, Ginny Walker, Marjorie Osgood, Susan Herlihy, Sarah Dunham, Fred Nolte, Tom McGinniss, Brad Jerome, Julie Bullard, Alice Arlen, Lynn and Joe Arizzi, Lisa Pivin, Michelle Mador, Greg Duclos, David Smith, Josh Sjostrum and also Telstar High School students, Whitney James, Ryan Cross, and Roy De Pasquale who helped with the serving of chowder.

And lastly, thanks to our sponsors — Oxford Networks, U.S. Foodservice, Hancock Lumber, and C.B. Kenworth, and to donors of products/prizes — Phoenix House & Well, Chadbourne Tree Farms, Inn at the Rostay, and Good Food Store.

Taxes

mittee members (fewer than a quorum) recommended taking $300,000, for a tax rate of $15.89.

But the first motion on the floor Monday was for taking $400,000, and it passed on a vote of 17-14.

What tax rate that will translate to has not yet been calculated, according to Town Manager Scott Cole, but it is almost certain the new rate will be lower than the old.

A major purpose of maintaining a healthy fund balance is to avoid short-term borrowing, but supporters of taking more from fund balance argued the town still had sufficient funds to cover likely expenses.

And if borrowing was necessary, said John Gray, who made the $400,000 motion, "the town can certainly borrow a lot cheaper than anyone out here in the audience can."

Opponents argued such a cut would leave too thin a safety margin, and limit the town's options in coming years.

"I think we're going to end up shooting ourselves in the foot for next year," said Selectman Reggie Brown, who voted against the motion.

a factor], we wanted to focus on warmer-weather driving," said MDOT's Duane Brunell. "Unsafe or illegal speed is a major crash factor leading to 40 percent of the state's crash fatalities."

Major Randall Nichols of DPS spearheaded the effort to convert the statewide statistics into targeted speed patrols by police. It's called the SAFE, or Strategic Area Focused Enforcement, program.

The use of accident statistics to plan the location of special speed patrols began first on the Maine Turnpike on holiday weekends, he said.

For example, said Nichols, teams of state troopers — dressed as surveyors — operated radar guns from surveying tripods. Another strategy employed radar placed on the back of a white van.

Last month, using the map, the program expanded to other areas of the state.

"July and August are the deadliest months of the year," said Nichols. "We had three or four officers work a one-month period together," targeting speeders.

The time period was focused between Aug. 6 and Sept. 6, to include the Labor Day weekend. "We had some pretty good results with it," he said.

He said the program may eventually coordinate with regional law enforcement officials.

And Nichols has no problem letting the public know some of the ruses and strategies police are using against speeders.

"Our purpose is not to write tickets, but to get people to slow down," he said. "If they slow down when they see a white van, we're delighted with that."

Future plans

While speeders are the current focus of the program, there is also discussion about using targeted patrols against OUI offenders, employing a map similar to the speed-related one, said Nichols.

Another offshoot of the program could focus on teenage drivers — and their parents.

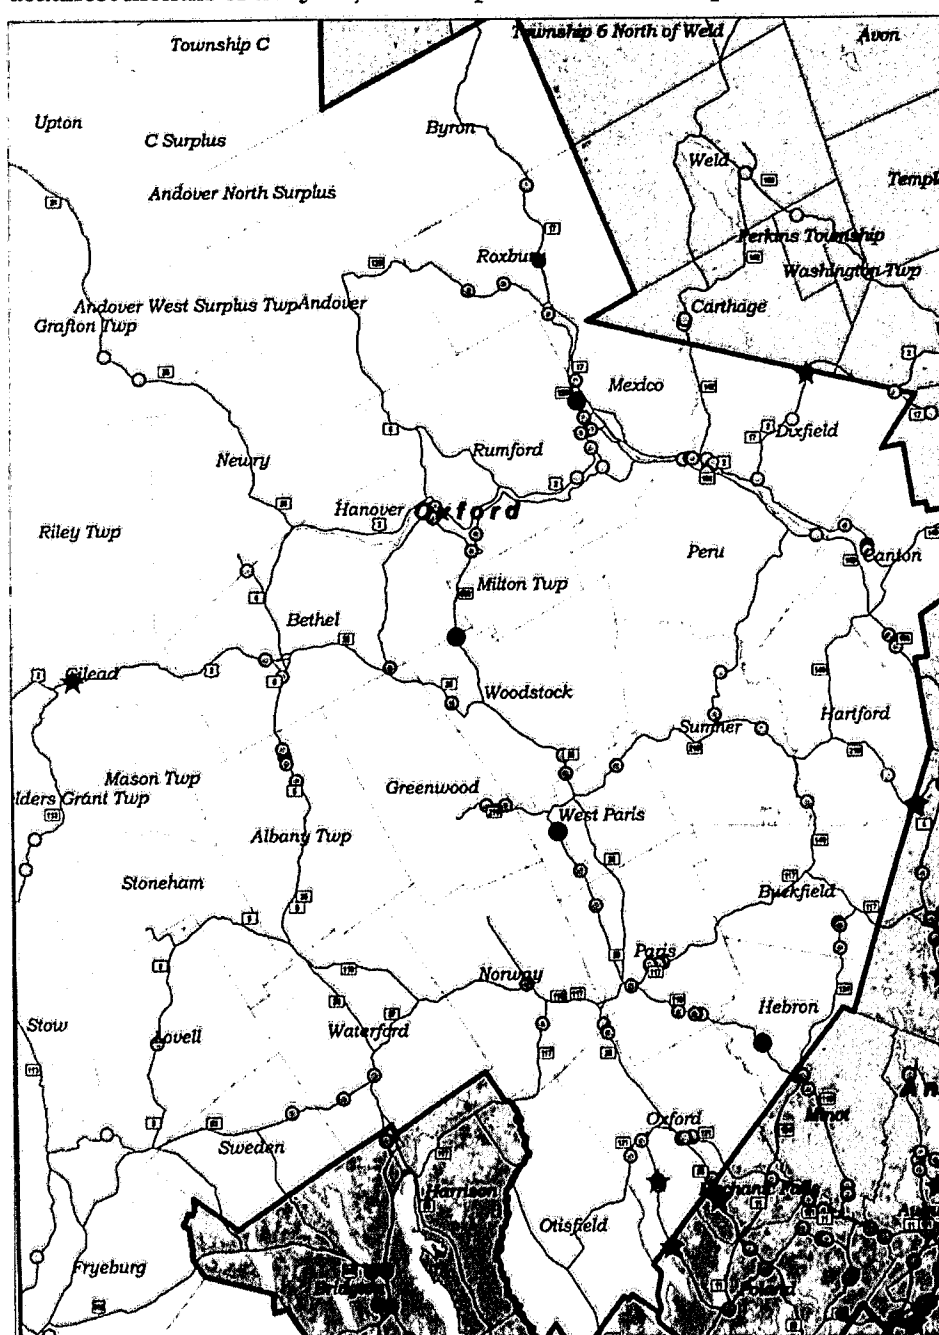

He hopes to have a plan in place by next year. "It would include community and parent involvement," said Nichols.

Too often, if a teen driver gets a speeding warning from a trooper, the teen's parents never find out about it, he said.

Further violations, perhaps leading to a ticket, may follow, with the parents finally learning what happened when a license-suspension notice arrives from the Secretary of State, or notification of an increased premium comes from the insurance company.

The state plan, said Nichols, might call for a phone call to parents from an officer issuing a warning.

"Most Maine parents would be appreciative to be clued in," said Nichols.

SPEED-RELATED ACCIDENTS

This map, a joint effort by the Maine Department of Transportation and the Department of Public Safety, shows speed-related accidents resulting in personal injury that occurred in the Bethel region. The crashes took place between 2001 and 2003, during the months of May through November. Winter crashes were not included, because many of the unsafe-speed crashes during those months are related to winter road conditions. The small, light-colored circles depict single accidents, and the larger, dark circles show two accidents at one site. Stars represent fatal crash sites. (Map courtesy MDOT)

Recall vote set

GREENWOOD — A special Town Meeting to vote on recalling Selectman Ivan Roberts has been set for Thursday, Oct. 14, at 7 p.m. in the town hall. The recall vote was requested by petition from 65 town residents. The date was set at a special selectmen's meeting on Thursday, Sept. 16. Roberts asked that the recall meeting not be held until Nov. 13, so that he might "get my case out, plus I have a legal mentor who is not available until Nov. 6." Selectmen Wayne Hakala and Chairman Fred Henderson, however, voted for the earlier date. The vote promoted the following response from Roberts: "You may grin now, Pork Chop (directed to Hakala) but your time is coming. Believe me." Roberts refused to sign the warrant, claiming the motion had been discussed beforehand by Henderson and Hakala, hence was illegal.

Legislators' enviro scores

BRUNSWICK — The Maine League of Conservation voters last week released its annual Environmental Scorecard, highlighting how Maine legislators voted on what it said are 14 key environmental bills that came before the 121st Legislature. The scorecard tracks votes on issues including land conservation, liquidation harvesting, wildlife protection, climate change, household hazardous waste, electronic waste and arsenic-containing products. The scores are a percentage — a representative who voted for all 14 bills earned a 100 percent score, while one who voted against all of them earned a 0 percent score. Among Oxford County legislators, Rep. Arlan Jodrey (R-Bethel) earned a 7 percent score; Rep. H. Sawin Millett (R-Waterford) earned 14 percent; Sen. Rick Bennett (R-Norway) earned 88 percent; and Sen. Bruce Bryant (D-Dixfield) earned 75 percent.

Alumni games rescheduled

BETHEL — Telstar alumni soccer and field hockey games that were cancelled by rain last weekend have been rescheduled for Saturday. Field hockey will start at 1 p.m. at the Telstar field, and the soccer game will follow at 2 p.m. Staff, coaches, parents, and community members are invited to play. "We are hoping we have interest because we would like to make this an annual event to be played every homecoming weekend," said Telstar soccer coach Tim Remington.

Lumber company lays off 31

DIXFIELD — A wet 2004 has led to the layoff of 31 employees at the Irving Forest Products. Loggers have not been able to get into the woods to cut enough white pine because of the wet conditions, according to the company. Irving said it hopes to call back some of the employees in two to three months. Before the layoffs, the mill employed about 250 people.

Extension offers tree ID walk

GRAFTON — A free public tree identification walk will take place in Grafton Notch State Park in North Newry on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 2 p.m., rain or shine. The University of Maine Cooperative Extension is sponsoring the walk, which will be led by Rick Churchill, professor emeritus at Southern Maine Community College, and the associate editor and staff horticulturalist for "People, Places and Plants" magazine. The group will gather at the Chamber of Commerce in Bethel prior to heading up to Grafton Notch. The tree trek will not require strenuous activities, and there will be many stops to study the plants and rest. In order to have an enjoyable walk, it is recommended that participants bring the following items: hiking boots or good sneakers; warm, water repellent top and outer gear (including polypropylene or similar underwear, non-cotton shirt and pants, wool sweater or fleece, wool cap, outer shell of Gortex or similar pants and top); small backpack to carry clothing and reference material; and water. The tour is an organized outing of the Maine Tree Club, an educational outreach program established by Cooperative Extension, the Maine Forest Service and the Pine Tree State Arboretum. The club is designed to equip people, young and old, for identifying 50 trees of Maine over a two-year period. Call the Cooperative Extension in Cumberland County at 800-287-1471 before Wednesday, Sept. 29 to register.

Summit Challenge coming

NEWRY — The 17th annual Summit Challenge Hike-Walk-Run to the top of Locke Mountain will take place Sunday, Oct. 10. Registration will take place at South Ridge Base area from 8 to 9 a.m. There will be T-shirts, prizes, and refreshments. All proceeds go to the Sunday River Ski Club. NEWRY — The second half of the 42-mile Grafton Loop Trail is expected to open next fall, according to volunteers working on the project. Work is currently underway on creating steps and erosion control features along the corridor. The other half of the trail opened in June 2002. The loop trail is designed in part to provide an alternative to the heavily used Appalachian Trail.

Unemployment at 4.5 percent

AUGUSTA — The seasonally-adjusted August unemployment rate for Maine was 4.5 percent, well below the national August rate of 5.4 percent, according to State Labor Commissioner Laura Fortman. "Maine's seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate rose from 4.2 percent in July to 4.5 percent in August as the number of employed and unemployed Maine residents both increased. This phenomenon is fairly typical during times of economic recovery as improving employment prospects draw people into the labor force," said Fortman. For six consecutive months seasonally-adjusted nonfarm wage and salary job gains have been recorded, capped off by the latest increase of 3,500 between July and August.

Wife-carrying coming Oct. 9

NEWRY — Sunday River will host the fifth annual North American Wife Carrying Championships (NAWCC) at Sunday River on Oct. 9. The event will be part of the annual Fall Festival weekend, which will feature a Brewer's Festival, craft fair, chairlift rides, children's activities and live entertainment from the Boston-based band, Entrain. This year's grand prize for the NAWCC will include a round-trip ticket to Finland to the World Wife-Carrying Championships, in addition to the traditional prize of the wife's weight in beer. Couples navigate a 278-yard obstacle while the man is literally "carrying" the women. Women are allowed to carry men as well, but so far, there have been no such team. The teams do not have to be married couples, but they must be made up of a man and a woman and both must be at least 21 years old to enter.

fic, both motorized and non-motorized, traveling the North Road, and everyone should be paying closer attention.

Since last spring, vehicles have been taking that route to avoid the construction project on Route 2. The road is also becoming a popular ride for bicyclists, she said.

"There are a lot of bike riders out there. It's not just the horses," Mason said. "And now the swimming pond is there, too."

Ellis Riders perspective
The Ellis River Riders in Andover is a long-time, active horse club. Member Deb Cayer said some riders there have also had near misses and other problems with drivers on Route 5.

"Too bad everyone has a different concept of 'reasonable caution,'" she said. "Some people think moving over a few feet in the road is enough, even if they don't slow down. We have had a few instances here of drivers gunning their engines, and even throwing things."

In one instance, she said, a vehicle approached too fast, hit the shoulder and lost control, skidding about 40 feet and almost hitting a group of riders. "It still roared off, faster than ever," said Cayer.

Like Mason in Bethel, the ERR riders must travel along the road to get to their trails. They ride a short stretch of Route 5 between Airport Road and Bailey Road.

"We have about 1/8 of a mile of roadside trail from the ERR arena to the trail heads, and we are working on getting it down to just crossing the roadway from one side to the other," she said. "Some of our newer, less confident riders have been stopping traffic because they have kids riding with them, or jittery horses, and there have been some local folks upset by that."

"It's hard to keep the peace and share the road," Cayer said. "Most people are in such a hurry to get somewhere that it seems like the end of the world if they are asked to slow down or stop for a minute."

"I think it's pretty sad, considering 100 years ago these same people's ancestors were using this very same means of transportation. I don't think they knew what 'road rage' meant. We could take a lesson from that."

But Cayer is also quick to point out that there are plenty of thoughtful drivers out there, too.

"In all fairness, there are many super-courteous drivers who slow, stop and wait, and take pleasure in watching the horses go by," she said.

Patrick

As a social worker, Harris used outdoor-adventure activities in his profession, and he plans to tie in stories from that career in the book.

But the primary purpose of the book, he said, "is to show quadriplegics we can do things we never thought we could."

The 200-page book is scheduled to come out in May, and to coincide with a second planned wheelchair trek through Maine.

Harris also has plans to one day captain his own charter boat — using the same 'sip and puff' technology that allows him to operate his wheelchair independently.

By alternately sipping or puffing on a straw-like instrument positioned near his mouth, Harris can guide everything from a small wheelchair to a large seagoing vessel.

He comes from a family of sea captains, and from early in life it was a tradition he had planned to carry on.

"I want to be the first 'sip and puff' sea captain taking charters out on the ocean," he said.

"There's nothing that my handicap has done to me that has caused me to alter what my original plans were. It just makes me more determined than ever."

Airport

Milligan said he then gave the town 30 days (rather than 10) before reporting the violation.

Town (and Airport) Manager Scott Cole told the BAA last week there had been grounds for Milligan's complaint about the fuel pump. "As airport manager I dealt with the fuel situation three times — unsuccessfully," he told the board last week.

"In my mind the issue was dealt with and resolved, but it didn't get done," Cole said. "I did not exercise sufficient diligence in getting the matter resolved. ... The requests were not ignored — they were not dealt with adequately."

Milligan also told the board in July he was concerned about repeated instances of criminal activity at the airport, including tampering with aircraft, theft of fuel from both aircraft and airport-owned equipment.

Both the pump and the criminal activity concerns have since been apparently resolved.

A state official is scheduled to inspect the pump system Friday and make any necessary adjustments, and the lock on the airport gate has been upgraded.

"As far as I know all incidents of aircraft tampering and fuel theft have stopped — wonderful," Milligan said last week.

As for the fuel pump problem: "The great news is the matter got resolved. That was my sole intent," Milligan said. "I'm sorry people's feelings got hurt, but I didn't see any other option."

'I'm sure there's nobody here that can explain and nobody here that will apologize for what Arlan Jodrey and John Head said and did, but as a board member, I can assure you that it does not reflect the way I feel about anything.'

Dr. JOHN MASON

Comments 'uncalled for'
But while Milligan said he was satisfied with the resolution of the problems, he was far from pleased with comments made by two board members when he raised his concerns.

At the August BAA meeting (which Milligan did not attend), John Head said he left the July meeting with "not a good feeling."

Both he and Arlan Jodrey complained about having had to listen to complaints from a non-Bethel resident.

Head said: "I have a suggestion from people who come from other towns and tell us how to run our airport: Go talk to the Legislature about building you one out there in Albany or building one over in Rumford."

And Jodrey complained about "a non-taxpayer threatening the town, Airport Authority."

Both members also said such problems should be brought to the airport manager, and only taken to the board if he failed to adequately deal with them.

But, said Milligan last week, "That's exactly what we did, and more than one time."

He also challenged Head and Jodrey's apparent view of the airport as a proprietary Bethel facility.

"I will challenge Mr. Head to define the terms 'their airport' and 'regional airport,'" Milligan said. "Although the property is owned by the town of Bethel, the airport is what it is today because of state and federal tax dollars — not exclusively because of tax support by the Bethel taxpayers."

"The airport belongs to the public, not meaning Bethel citizens only," Milligan said. "It's a regional airport, open to and provided for the public throughout the region."

Milligan's view appeared to be shared by at least some of the members present for last week's meeting (Jodrey did not attend, due to health problems).

Mike Murphy called Head's and Jodrey's comments "uncalled for."

And Dr. John Mason said: "I'm sure there's nobody here that can explain and nobody here that will apologize for what Arlan Jodrey and John Head said and did, but as a board member, I can assure you that it does not reflect the way I feel about anything, and I want to sincerely thank you for bringing that to our attention and getting it resolved."

In the absence of Chairman Dan Gibbs, last week's BAA meeting was chaired by Cathy Newell, a resident of Greenwood.

KENNARD SEEKS RE-ELECTION

County Commissioner Fred Kennard (D-Rumford) has announced that he will seek re-election to the Oxford County Commissioners Board representing District 2, including the towns of Gilead, Newry, Andover, Upton, Lincoln, Magalloway, Byron, Roxbury, Rumford, Mexico, Dixfield, Milton Plantation, Peru, Canton, Sumner and Hartford. A native of Mexico and graduate of Mexico High School, Kennard has lived in Rumford for 42 years, and was employed for more than 40 years in the Rumford mill where he was a member of Local 900. He was appointed County Commissioner in 1994, following the death of Commissioner Reginald "Butch" Guay. At that time, Congressman John E. Baldacci suggested that Kennard seek the appointment. He has been re-elected since, and is in line to chair the commission next year. Issues of particular concern to the commission, according to Kennard, will be personnel, particularly retaining trained personnel in law enforcement and dispatch, the chronic shortage of beds at the jail and the exploration of creative solutions to the shortage with neighboring counties, the balancing of many budget priorities, and the future of the Oxford County Airport. Kennard feels that his decade of commission experience will serve the residents of District 2 well and that it is important to have a political balance on the three-member board. Kennard previously served as a selectman in Rumford, chairing the Board for four years, and has served on the Maine County Commissioners Board. He currently represents Oxford County on the Workforce Investment Board, and is a trustee and treasurer of the Rumford Water District. He is a member of the Rumford and Oxford County Democratic Committees. Kennard feels that his background in municipal government is a valuable asset to the County Commission as are his deep roots in the River Valley area. "A lifetime in the Rumford/Mexico area has given me a deep appreciation of the hard-working people of this region, and serving my neighbors on the County Commission is an honor," Kennard stated. He is married to the former Carolyn Cummings and they are the parents of two grown daughters. Commissioner Kennard welcomes volunteers with his campaign and may be contacted at 364-8891. He has a Web page on the Oxford County Democrats Web site, www.oxforddems.org.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

Another quiet week in Gilead. I got an e-mail from Sue Coriveau this past week. There is going to be another benefit yard sale for Ken Cole on Saturday, Sept. 25, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. If anyone would like to donate any items, give Sue a call. The last one that they had was quite successful. Ken's mom, Nancy, will be there to sell hot dogs and soda again. Great bargains, good food and lots of fun.

Mallory Coriveau, Fred and Sue Coriveau's daughter, was the guest of honor at a birthday party at her home. Mallory turned six years old this past week. Several relatives, some local and some from New Hampshire, and a few of her friends from school attended the party.

The entertainment was Bobo, the clown, from Berlin, N.H. Bobo did an excellent job entertaining the children and adults.

There was a meeting of the Planning Board on Wednesday night. I had to attend to swear in Len Strait as a member.

I spoke to Nancy Holden, of South Paris, this weekend to see how her experience was at the Oxford County Fair. This is the first year that she and her husband, Albert, set up their mineral display.

They had a great time and would consider doing it again next year. I was hoping to get to the fair to check in with them, but did not get a chance to go this year. Maybe next year.

Steve McLain stopped by Saturday, but did not have much to report on the Adventures of Joey McLain. He did say that Joey is doing well and enjoying playing music out West like he did when he was around here.

Need more news. Call 836-2987, e-mail chapman@hotmail.com, or leave a note.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

It has become all too obvious to me that once one reached the wonderful world of middle-aged one cannot lose weight no matter what one does. Or at least that is the case when I am the one. I've heard about "Body Set Point" and I've come to believe that in my case it rises in direct proportion to my age.

I have been riding the fat-thin roller coaster for a very long time, but for the last few years I have been stuck on one of the hills with no valley in sight.

For a while, I blamed it on American manufacturing, figuring that they have somehow tampered with clothing fibers in the weaving and spinning process, adding some chemical that makes the fibers shrink after several washings.

Though that may be somewhat true with some clothing I have noticed that it doesn't happen to the same degree in my daughter's (size 4) or daughter-in-law's (size 8) clothing. And, I really doubt that Dupont has a personal conspiracy to make my life miserable. Therefore, the logical conclusion is the rise in my "Body Set Point."

Back in the good old days (pre-40), whenever I found myself gaining weight, I would go on a diet and shed the excess poundage with little effort. But once I reached the big 4-0, my "Body Set Point" increased right along with my cholesterol and waist and nothing I have done since has worked.

I've tried diet, exercise, powdered formulas, herbs, miracle pills, meditation, prayer and voodoo, and nothing seems to help. The fat just hangs from my body in the form of pudding arms and jell-o thighs, a glib reminder that everything I put in my mouth takes a direct route to my hips.

That's another thing that happens with middle age, food no longer gets digested, it just floats around under the skin accumulating here and there creating a fat and lumpy appearance.

I have been riding the fat-thin roller coaster for a very long time...

I really wouldn't mind being fat, I know I don't suffer alone, there are a lot of others just like me, but I have a hard time with the pressure and low status society places on people like me. They make us feel that even though eating is America's favorite pastime, when us fatties do it, we're out of control.

Television, magazines, newspapers and even the radio hit us with commercials that make us feel that if we aren't eating something, we're not having fun. Yet, if we go to a party where food is always the central focus, and one of us fatties has a piece of cake or some chips, all the body beautifuls with high metabolism stare at us and whisper to their friends, "the porkers are at it again!"

Even the diet plan commercials make us feel inadequate. They always have some size four anorexic in a white bathing suit prancing around like she really lost 50 pounds. Give us a break; that woman never had an ounce of fat on her thighs in her life, not to mention that she is 18 years old and has never given birth, raised a family and taken care of a home. I'd like to see her in her slinky white bathing suit 30 years and five kids from now.

If that isn't enough, take a look at the clothing situation - designers do not design anything stylish above a size 10. Everything else is polyester sackcloth with an elastic waist. I know that a lot of stores carry a line of "plus" sizes, but they are always in a segregated section of the store as if they shouldn't be mingling with the thin clothes.

Now, there are always the many weight loss programs flooding the market these days and many of them are good. But once you become a devotee, you follow the diet plan right to the calorie, lose a bunch of weight at a cost of $77 per pound, and then you stop going.

Once you take away the security blanket of the "weigh-in" in the presence of a total stranger or, even worse, someone you know, you slip right back into the old eating habits. These programs work, not because of the healthy diets or the education on eating behavior modification; it's the "weigh-in", believe me.

Exercise is, of course, a companion to diet, but lets face it, I'm in no shape to exercise. My strength training consists of lifting myself out of bed in the morning and the walking I do is by way of trips to the refrigerator.

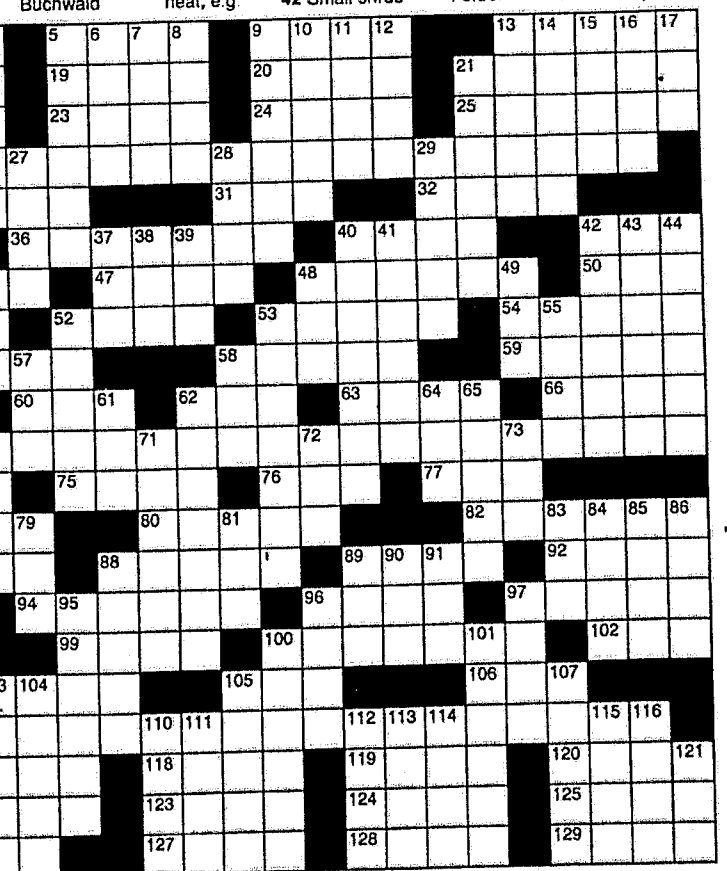

I know everyone should maintain a good diet and get adequate exercise for health's sake. Society's cruelties, age or lack of willpower should not mitigate good health habits. If I work at it, I might be able to actually alter my "Body Set Point."

The way I see it, I really should get on track with a sensible diet and exercise plan and stop whining about age and woe is me. In fact, I think I'll start today, right after I finish this bag of potato chips.

Also on Sunday, the West Paris Baptist Church opened Sunday School for the upcoming year with the following serving as teachers, Tom Standard, David Broberg, Sandy Broberg, Cheryl Bacon and Kenneth Bacon. Both churches have K through adult classes.

Thought for the week: "Refined, processed foods have made guinea pigs of us all. Your body is made out of foods and can be no better than the foods you eat."

Call to worship was held

Sunday morning, Sept. 12, at 9 a.m., at the Newry Community Church with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. Thought for the day by Sue Wight, "A good motive turns bad on the hinge of selfishness." Scripture readings by the faithfuls. The message of the day was, "Faith in Action," from James 1:3.4. "Knowing this that the trying of your faith worketh patience, but let patience have her perfect work; that you may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing." A prayer followed, Holy Communion, The Lord's Prayer, Hymn 191, benediction, postlude, amen.

My in-laws, Billie and Armand from North Hampton, N.H., came to see me one day and spent a few hours. It was great to see them as it had been a couple of years. I hope to see them again before winter sets in.

Another week has gone by. By the time this comes out, fall will be arriving. Where did our summer go?

David Holt and Ann Holt went to the farm Sunday and cooked dinner for their parents, Leonas and Fay Holt. What a nice thing to do, sure they enjoyed it.

Saturday, Ann Holt and Brad Payne got their wood in, then they went for a ride taking Molly (their dog) with them. She likes to ride.

Saturday, Albert and Marie Curtis took me down to get groceries. Sunday, they went over to her parents, Tom and Iva Bragg, at Sumner and helped get their wood in, so everyone was busy.

Fred Curtis got a bear. This is the first one he ever got. Betty Curtis went back to New York with Carl.

Timothy Curtis visited me one day. I had not seen him for quite a while.

They sure are having quite a lot of storms in Florida. Have a grandson that lives in Pensacola. Hope he is all right. Know that several from the area have places down there. Hope they are all right.

Time to be getting our plants in the way the weather is.

Betty got a nice dog house for their dog, Tyson. He needed it, as he had no cover from the sun and rain. He is getting to be an old dog. Now she needs to get an automatic feeder and waterer then he'll be all set. Kenneth and Julia are supposed to be taking care of him. He actually is Ken's dog, but he takes to all of them. So they all look after him.

Marie Curtis brought her mother, Iva Bragg, home from the hospital Monday. She is some better. Her father, Tom Bragg, went Tuesday for tests on his heart. Don't know how he made out. Marie took him to Portland for these tests.

Well, doesn't seem possible Wayne Hakala has retired. Good for you, Wayne. Enjoy your retirement.

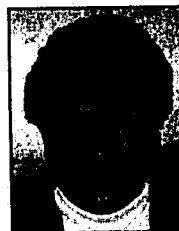

Oxford County Fair is on. It will be over before this goes to print. Hope they have a good crowd. Probably will where they have horse racing now.

The leaves are starting to turn some now. The leaves on my purple lilacs turned brown and are all funny. Is there a disease hitting them, or is it the weather? This happened about three weeks ago. The white ones are all okay.

A thought to remember: "A warm smile and whole-some laughter have great face value."

That's it for this week. So have a safe and happy one.

Summer is officially over, although it never really arrived. Let's face it, screens are definitely better than storm windows and sandals and sneakers beat boots any day. Fall is really a beautiful prelude to the winter ahead. Seasons always hold promises of something good in the future. We Mainers prefer the change.

Liz Stanczyk, Sue Nelson and I attended the Harvest

Fest and Chowdah Cook-off on the Bethel Common on a very cold, rainy Saturday. The chowders were wonderful. My favorite was the spicy, warm concoction from Cho Sun Restaurant. It warmed you all the way down to your toes. They were all first-class, and at this time I still don't know who was the winner. Everyone favored a different one.

Joan Miller almost froze to death while exhibiting her paintings. She finally folded her tent and headed for the warm climate of Upton.

I was very happy to meet up with two old friends from my Andover days with the Pratt family. Sue and Bruce Pratt, of Bethel and Granby, Mass., renewed an old friendship and memories with me. It was great to hear about Ella, Jay, Patty and Richard Pratt. In the seventies I did Private Duty Nursing for Dick Pratt. Richard and I enjoyed many Christmases with this warm, friendly family.

Frost covers on the flowers are really a futile effort now. We are long overdue to receive a frost. The trees are just now beginning to color up. The reds are fairly visible with some gold peeking out. The beauty has yet to arrive.

Margaret Mitchell attended a wedding in New Hampshire over the weekend.

Dave Miller was quite comfortable swimming in the lake over the weekend. The water was warmer than the air. Joan and Dave had a perplexing problem when they tried to pull the anchor at the swimming site. They pulled until they had blistered palms before the offending article came to the surface. Attached to the anchor was a bedspring that must have been in the lake for fifty years.

The Ladies Aid met on Tuesday and Thursday last week to do their crafts. A new heater has been installed in the Ladies Aid Building by Larry Lavallee and his crew.

Visitors at the Strattons last weekend were Sheila and Bill Moore, Victoria Moore and Deborah Hall. They hail from Delaware and were headed for Bar Harbor to go on the Windjammer Cruise. I hope they brought their parkas with them.

Happy Birthday to Joy Yarnell who has turned 40 years old for the second time.

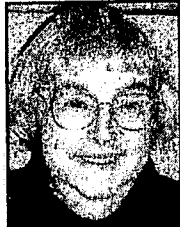

A coyote was seen at the end of my driveway by Buster Williamson Saturday night. It was eating apples but was eye-balling Carolyn Taylor's cat for dessert.

The "Bird of the Week" is the cedar waxwing. They are here in profusion eating ripe chokecherries. Incidentally, Evelyn Kenney saw a flicker eating chokecherries in her dooryard. I thought they preferred ants.

The lovely, sleek cedar waxwing is smaller than a robin. It is a crested brown bird with a black mask. The wings have a hard red wax-like tip on the secondary wing feathers. They are usually found in flocks during apple blossom time and ripe berry time. Open woodlands, orchards and residential areas host these birds. They nest late in the summer in order for them to feed their young ripe berries and small fruits. The adults store food in their crop to feed the youngsters and may regurgitate as many as 30 chokecherries, one at a time, into the gaping mouth of the young bird. They are social birds and have an amusing habit of passing apple blossoms or berries from one bird to another, perching on a long tree branch until one bird eats the food. The cedar waxwing is another beautiful gift of Mother Nature.

The beautiful week has ended in showers. The Oxford County Fair had such warm, nice days with good attendance but all slowed down on Friday evening and all day Saturday. On Thursday, Senior Citizen day, I assisted the coordinator, Jeanne Whittemore, with the Senior Shenanigans. All of the nursing homes in the area were represented and took part playing Bingo.

Some entered the fancy hat contest. Market Square residents took the prizes. I ate lunch with the Ledgeview Nursing Home folks. They enjoyed the special fair foods, for most of the foods are not on their regular diets. It was nice to see so many there to enjoy the exhibits and entertainment and the nice, sunny weather.

Sayward Lamb exhibited his carving art and explained how he made fish and birds of wood.

On Sept. 26 at the West Paris Universalist Church the Rev. Joy Gasta will speak on "Forgiveness." Jim Burke is organist. A coffee hour follows. All are welcome.

We are all saddened by the death of Audrey Hadley, 77, at the Ledgeview Nursing Home.

She is survived by a daughter, Carman Hadley; a son, Roger Hadley; and three grandchildren.

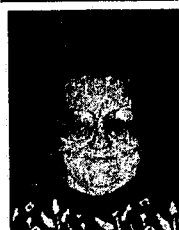

I am spending the week in Crawford Notch at the Highland Center attending an Elderhostel. There will be outdoor adventures and workshops studying the natural history of Autumn.

My granddaughter, Amber Lamb, who has worked there for two years, signed me up. She will be around to keep me in line.

Elaine Blosson and daughter, Marcia from North Bradford, Conn., are visiting her sister, Jeanne Whittemore, and attending the Fair and horse races.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary put on the Western

Maine Firemen Association's September supper and served about sixty firemen and some wives on Monday evening, at the Town Hall. Those working the supper were Denise Swan, Maggie Ring, Veronica Penley, Lorraine Larson, and Missy (whose last name escapes me at the moment). Also helping were Janet Penley and Cubby Swan. We served ham with raisin sauce, mashed potatoes, squash, peas, biscuits, beverages, and cake for dessert.

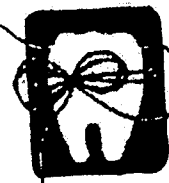

Marcia and Jonathan Smith from Easton visited us Saturday and I was finally able to get some nice pictures of Ralph and Lorene and Marcia and Jon all together in one picture. I forgot to do that the last time we were all in one place together. Ralph was working at the Finish Line but his boss graciously let us gather back of the restaurant for the picture. While we were there we also enjoyed some tea and ice cream. It was the start of a two-week vacation for Jon and one week for Marcia. They also visited his brother Don and wife Jane in Jay, or is it Livermore Falls? I'm not sure but it is one of those two places. They were only spending the weekend downstate and planned to spend the rest of the vacation back in "The County."

Hanover

Paul Ramsey is recovering at home following surgery. Cards might make that good old boy feel better.

Country Music star Ira Allen, now partially retired, from Nashville has been vacationing in the area and visiting with his sister, Joan Tucker.

Area members of the Knights of Pythias attended an Executive Council meeting and Grand Chancellor's picnic at Gouldsboro on Sunday, Sept. 12. From this area those attending were Grand Chancellor Danny Bennett and his wife Janice; Grand Master at Arms Freeman Farrington; District Deputy Craig Turner; and Grand Secretary Clem Worcester and his wife Donna.

The Hanover Town Meeting, originally scheduled for Sept. 28, has been changed to Oct. 5, at 6 p.m. at the Town House. The Selectboard will meet on Sept. 28 at the Town Office at 5 p.m. The Town Office was closed all day on Sept. 21 so the election officials could attend training in Portland.

It has been reported that local residents have received anonymous letters, which depict the recipient in a less than favorable mode. Perhaps it is unfortunate that the means of communication is so that the victims are unable to respond to their accuser. That is not something that a neighbor should do to his fellow upstanding and hard-working citizens.

Usually we report on the children from the area that are starting school for the first time. This year we have heard of none. If you know of a child in that situation, let me in on it.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke

Hello and greetings from Albany Township. The nights are getting a bit cooler now, but, mostly the daylight hours have been sunny and warm. Of course, we all know that won't last long, with September approaching its final days and autumn beginning Wednesday.

You know, Albany is a very nice area to live in. Look at the example of the benefit supper for Franklin Barton. Yes, the church put the supper on, but, what a lot of people may not know is that not all of the cooks attend the Albany church. Many of the people go to other churches (or not at all) and still they donate their time, money (in the food) and wonderful cooking because this is a community and they want to be a part of that community and help neighbors.

And don't forget those who come from all around to attend these suppers — they, too, are giving to the community. When the association has their yard sale every year, you go down there and see Buzzie, or whomever, cheerfully tending the tables, and you are automatically greeted with a warm smile and friendly banter.

The same for the church yard sales: hot day, old building, and still you will be greeted by either Holle or the kids helping, and told to just dig in. At the church suppers, there is no end to the volunteers' smiles, laughter and general good naturedness as they're making sure you have had enough to eat for your $6. No, we don't all know or even like everyone, but, that's okay, too. Doesn't take away the specialness of the township, this community.

God Bless and keep.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

As I write this, the dog sits on the front steps, having been chased out of her doghouse by the friendly neighborhood skunk. She didn't want to move, but I wanted her to. She did not get skunked, but the doghouse did. Yuck!

Dawn and I watched from afar as the skunk under the doghouse did its business. We could only see the tail and what came out. We made sure Tasha was away from it.

I didn't know why she was barking this morning. She never barks like that. Now we know. She'll have to spend the afternoon outside on the porch. It is not supposed to rain so she'll be okay.

I'm surprised the skunk didn't go for the corn. It is ripe and good. I'm glad it hasn't, but if the dog kept it out of the corn, why is it under her house? She had almost dug it out when we smelled it and realized what she was doing. I thought it was mice she was after. Maybe she was and the skunk was after the mice, too. On the other hand, what is a skunk doing out in broad daylight? It is under the doghouse, but still...

That rainstorm was really something last Saturday. We all got drenched at the transfer stations. David came home freezing cold. I wasn't cold until I took a shower. The water was none too hot. But we all survived and had a beautiful day on Sunday.

The 21st, Tuesday, is the first day of fall. That should be a whole new ballgame. It is my favorite season. Warm days and cool nights with many fewer bugs.

This Saturday, Sept. 25, there is a Bottle Drive to raise funds for the Ball Field Project. For more information about where to bring your bottles or for pickup, call Jeff and Corinne Beebe at 583-2724, or Tom and Sam Murch at 583-2553.

The Common Ground Fair begins Friday and having expected to spend the weekend there we shortened to one day. Now due to car trouble we will miss it. It is my favorite fair. I go every year and try to stay a night or two. But we only have Friday and will spend it finding another car. A one-car family is a nice idea, but doesn't work with work schedules and such and living far from the maddening crowd. The only thing within walking distance is Springer's Store. That is a great place, but it doesn't cover all our needs; we still need to go to the bank, the Town Office, and yes, to work. So we're off to buy a second car.

I am off to brave the skunk-infested out-of-doors and head to work. Dave can handle moving the doghouse and bagging the skunk. If it comes out again, we might have to call the dogcatcher, as it may be rabid.

Have a wonderful week. Enjoy the fall weather. And for those to whom it applies, Happy New Year.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. Aren't we lucky to have such nice sunny days lately. It's a good time to clean up and do fall chores (which I haven't done yet).

By the way, if anyone out there has or will have some big, old yellow cukes they don't want, Frances Grant or I could use them to make sweet pickles (Albert calls them frog tongues!). Anyway, they are good.

Brenda Files is having a new roof put on to her home.

We were sorry to learn of the passing of Alice Files Paine recently. Our sympathy and prayers go out to her family and friends. Alice was formerly married to my cousin, Dick Files. She lived in Auburn.

Frances Grant, Thelma Dad-

mun and I went to Bridgton one day recently and visited Mertice Barker at the Bridgton Health Care Center; she hopes to be home soon.

Dale and Kitty Nelson enjoyed a week off work lately. They camped at South Arm in Andover and canoed up Lower Richardson Lake to Middle Dam, then hiked down the Carry Road to see Forest Lodge where author Louise Dickinson Rich lived and wrote, "We Took to the Woods," in 1942. Dale read her books in high school and always wanted to visit that area.

Matthew Nelson is back at Emerson College in Boston resuming his studies after being an orientation leader there for a couple of weeks.

Molly Nelson competed in the last Ellis River Riders Show recently. She and her horse, Possum, aka Side Tracked, did quite well, getting a sixth, a fourth, three seconds and three thirds. She would like to thank Albert for the use of the truck, Betty Pollard for use of her trailer and Greg Sessions for driving and stable duties and all around support. We enjoyed the afternoon there and had lunch from the "Feed Bag." They have nice picnic tables under the shade trees where we watched the horses and riders go through their paces and jumps.

The next meeting of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19, will be Oct. 11 at Bryant Pond with supper at 6 p.m. This will be inspection night. Tent 19 to bring desserts. It's always nice to meet with the Bryant Pond people. See you members there.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

In conjunction with the Bethel Historical Society's current exhibit, "Molly Ockett and Her World," there will be a course, "Indian New England," which will be offered beginning on Oct. 6 and continue each week for the next three weeks. The first class will introduce the topic within the context of New England history. The second class (Oct. 13) will deal with Molly Ockett and her world, the third (Oct. 20) with the nature and results of King Phillip's War (1675-76), and the last (Oct. 27) with a sampling of Indian captivity literature. Society Director Stanley R. Howe will be the coordinator of the course with other guest presenters invited to participate. The fee for the course will be $20 for non-members of the Bethel Historical Society and $15 for society members. The classes will be at the O'Neal Robinson House beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone wishing to enroll should call the society office at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 or use the e-mail address: info@bethelhistorical.org.

The society's annual apple and pumpkin festival was held as a part of Bethel's Harvest-fest Celebration on Saturday, Sept. 18. Due to the rain, the society's O'Neil Robinson House was particularly popular where visitors could visit the three exhibits, the museum shop or participate in the making of applesauce and cider pressing. Free samples of cider and applesauce were available all afternoon. As usual, one of the most popular items was the pumpkin whoopie pies, which were soon sold out. Many thanks go to Bessie Bennett, Allan Marcotte and Judy Haskell for making the whoopie pies, to Jan Todd and Kathy Kunkel for their help in the shop, and to Lynn Mason Courtney and Polly Olmstead for their assistance in whoopie pie sales. Society Director Stan Howe operated the cider press and oversaw the making of applesauce by the many visitors. Randy Bennett, along with Judy Haskell and Allan Marcotte, assisted with tours of the Dr. Moses Mason House, Danna Nickerson oversaw the sales, and George Nickerson helped with cleanup.

Oxford Pomona Grange 2

Lakeside Grange 63 of Harrison hosted the meeting of Oxford Pomona on Sept. 2 at their hall on Long Lake. Construction on the Main Street made the ride a little bumpy and parking was a little difficult, but after that a very nice supper was enjoyed, followed by the meeting.

Victoria Huff and her able team installed the Pomona officers for the coming year. The new master is Stanley Howe (also State Grange historian and member of the legislative committee). Laura Hutchins, who is the new state deputy, is the new lecturer, taking Stan's previous seat. Other officers remain the same except for the executive committee. Outgoing master, Olive Risko, replaces Richard Felt in that office. Overseer is Peggy Blake; steward, Wendell Easter; assistant and lady assistant stewards, Gordon and Gloria Abbott; chaplain is Yvonne Nowlin; secretary, Gail Butterfield; treasurer, Nancy Mercer; gatekeeper, Gerald Easter; Ceres, Jackie Stevens; Pomona, Vicki Clark and Lynn Mason-Courtney is the Flora.

A very short program followed the installation.

Resolutions of Respect were read for Betsy Gaudreau, a quiet young woman whose sudden death occurred in August. Pomona members were well represented at her funeral and sympathy is extended to her family.

The next meeting of Oxford Pomona will be held on Oct. 5 at Franklin Grange 124 in Bryant Pond. The Pomona (fifth) degree will be conferred at that time. A 6:30 p.m. supper will be served before the meeting.

From the

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Members and friends are reminded to enjoy the hospitality of Jordan and Darlene Ginsberg, owners of The Perennial Inn, 141 Jed Martin Road, Rumford Point, tonight from 5 to 7 p.m. for Business After Hours.

Beer, wine, and hors d'oeuvres will be served. They would love you to tour their inn and gardens, and see their Killingworth Labrador Retrievers.

An RSVP is appreciated if coming, 369.0309, but if you forget, come anyway.

From the

Middle Intervale Meeting House

There will be an Evensong service at 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 26, at the Middle Intervale Meeting House. Evensong is an old Episcopal Church tradition that was resumed in 2002 through the joint efforts of Christ Church of Norway and Bethel House Church.

Evensong officiant will be the Rev. Anne Stanley, vicar at Christ Church, under whose aegis Bethel House Church operates. The service is open to all. Questions can be directed to Susan Herlihy at 824-3932.

From the

Oxford County Republicans

Dave Duguay and Steve Merrill, Oxford County's Republican candidates for two seats on the County Commission, were the featured speakers at the September monthly meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee held at the Mexico Congregational Church, which followed a delicious chicken dinner.

Duguay cited his extensive experience in the grocery and auto parts business and his long involvement in his community as good qualifications for seeking a seat on the County Commission. Married twenty-five years with two daughters, Duguay said if elected he would continue to work with his colleagues in making county government as efficient and responsive as possible.

Steve Merrill, completing a decade as a County Commissioner, cited his long experience in the construction and building supply business and extensive community record as excellent qualifications for this office. Merrill cited the fact that Oxford County delivers its services to its people at the lowest cost per capita in the state.

Both candidates promised a vigorous campaign based on fiscal responsibility and efficient and effective provision of services for Oxford County residents.

Prior to the meeting in Mexico, Oxford County Republicans and candidates gathered on Congress Street in Rumford to open the Rumford headquarters.

During the business meeting, presided over by Chairman Paul Billings, Penny Tucker, president of the Hannibal Hamlin Women's Republican Club, reported that the club took great pride in providing the funds that paid for the Republican headquarters at 333 Main Street in Norway which was opened last month. Refreshments that were served at the opening were also provided by the club.

Andrew Simon of the Bush-Cheney campaign with responsibilities for Oxford County and a 2004 Bates College graduate spoke on the progress of the campaign, the importance of telephone banks in Republican effort and the execution of the 72-hour plan for victory. His telephone is 773-6838 and e-mail: andrew@mainevictory04.com.

Josh Remy, a recent UMF graduate and Iraqi War veteran, reported on behalf of 2nd Congressional candidate Brian Hammel, who has risen in voter surveys to be extremely competitive with the Democratic incumbent, who has spent thousands of dollars on opposition research while professing to run a positive campaign.

Chuck Mahaleris, representing Sen. Susan Collins, reviewed the senator's recent work as chair of the Government Operations Committee to enact recommendations of the 911 Commission, her efforts to elect Republicans all over Maine, and her welcome of the First Lady to Lewiston.

Diane Jackson of Sen. Snowe's office also reported on the visit of the First Lady to Lewiston with the senator.

Erlon Jones, Oxford County Republican Campaign coordinator, spoke on all the progress of the campaign to date, the need for more volunteers, and his focus on working with each candidate to be certain that all bases are covered to ensure victory on Nov. 2. The phone number for the headquarters is 739-2350 and the e-mail address is oxford@megalink.net.

State Rep. Sawin Millett (R-Waterford) spoke on the bipartisan Maine Economic Research Institute (M.E.R.I.) ratings, which should give voters an excellent indication of which candidates support small business, the "backbone" of the Maine economy. Millett said Democrats say they care about local business, but the record as reflected in M.E.R.I. ratings indicates to the contrary. Those legislators who scored 75 or more possessed voting records that supported a healthy economy, strong businesses, and quality jobs in Maine. Republican legislators running for re-election in Oxford County scored so well that they were awarded gold stars by M.E.R.I. These include Millett with a 97, Arlan Jodrey with 87, Randy Hotham 79. In Senate District 14, former State Rep. Rob Cameron chalked up a score of 80 during his House service. The Democratic incumbent running for re-election in that district scored a dismal 19. More information on M.E.R.I. ratings can be gained by visiting www.fixmaine.com.

Other Republican officeholders recognized were Sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick and Register of Probate Tom Winsor. Remarks were also heard from Rep. Arlan Jodrey (R-Bethel) and Rep. Ted Heidrich (R-Oxford).

State Committeewoman Becky Kendall announced that the Republican booth at Fryeburg Fair would be operated by 24 teams of volunteers for its eight-day duration.

The next meeting of the committee will be on Oct. 12 at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond.

The Oxford County Republican Headquarters Rumford Branch held its grand opening Tuesday, Sept. 14 at 5 p.m.

This office is located on Congress Street in Rumford across from the Muskie Building. Republican candidates for Oxford County were on hand to celebrate the opening of this office, which will be open to coordinate campaign activities and inform voters about election issues.

Oxford County Republicans now have two field offices in the county, the other one being in Norway. The public is welcome to stop by both of these headquarters. In addition, the Republicans will have a booth at Fryeburg Fair from Oct. 3 through 10.

The motto this year is "every vote counts." And that is certainly true since Maine is considered a battleground state in the national election on Nov. 2.

From

Oxford County Democrats

Oxford County will be the scene of six Houseparties for Congressman Mike Michaud's campaign on Sunday, Sept. 26 as part of the Night of 100 Houseparties. Events will range from a bonfire in Albany to more conventional social events in Greenwood, Fryeburg, Norway, Hartford, Waterford, and Brownfield. Previous houseparties were held in September with two in Rumford on Sept. 4 and one in Porter on Sept. 19. Michaud will hold a conference call with the parties occurring on Sept. 26.

The Oxford Fair booth was busy, with a brisk business in candidate materials. Marge Medd, candidate for Senate, Roy Gedat and Terry Hayes, candidates for House were among the candidates visiting the fair.

A new shipment of Kerry materials has been received and will be available at the field offices this week.

The River Valley Expo on Sept. 24 and 25 will include a Democratic booth, featuring candidates from the area, including Sen. Bruce Bryant, Rep. John Patrick, Commissioner Fred Kennard, Register of Probate Price Hutchins, and House candidates Linda Petrie and Tim Carter.

Bryant attended the annual Jay Democratic cookout on Saturday at the home of Roland and Bonnie Samson. A large crowd was present for the event which included a pie auction. Funds raised will support the new Jay Democratic headquarters.

On Sunday, Bryant and Patrick participated in a ceremony at the Local 900 office where checks were presented to dialysis patients who were involved with the local committee working on a center in 2001-2002.

Several houseparties have been held recently for Marge Medd's campaign for the Senate in District 13, including events at the Democratic headquarters in Bridgton, at the homes of Charlotte Fullam in Porter and Laura Cleveland in Harrison, and at Pickett Hill Farm in Denmark, hosted by Brian Grennan and Fritz Von Ulmer.

Oxford County Democrats were represented at the Democratic party's Volunteer Convention on Sunday in Portland with representatives from the field offices participating. Many activities are planned for the coming weeks and those interested in helping should contact their local office in Mexico, Norway, Bethel, Buckfield, or Bridgton, or call County Chairperson Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

From the

West Paris Troopettes

A December calendar will be sold to help raise funds for the continuation of the monthly mailing of packages to the six West Paris servicemen in Iraq. A tremendous thanks is due our generous area merchants for supporting the calendar project and the three Sunday

Bingo sessions.

The second Bingo was held Sept. 19 with great prizes, laughter, and delicious refreshments. Look for our next Bingo on Sunday, Oct. 17, at 1 p.m. at the West Paris Town Office. That will also feature the raffle drawing for a filled Longaberger basket, 1/2 cord of firewood, $50 worth of gravel products, a $50 Perham's Maine Minerals certificate, a latch hook rug, and a crocheted afghan. Tickets are still available from any Troopette. We will begin the sale of the December calendars at the Bingo that day.

Our next packing party will be Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 6 p.m. at the West Paris Town Office where we will be packing toiletries. Please bring your money and any unsold raffle tickets at that time. Donations for the mailing may be made by calling 674-2114 or 674-2708.

In November we will be shipping Christmas goodies packages. Anyone interested in helping wrap and pack, please call the above numbers for more information.

From the

Telstar Alumni Association

The Telstar Alumni Association held its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 14, in the T.H.S. Conference Room. Alumni Day, on Aug. 14, went well with a pretty good turnout of people this year. Class reunions held this summer were: Class of '69 (35th), Class of '79 (25th), Class of '84 (20th), and Class of '94 (10th).

The Alumni Association would like to hear from the reunion organizers with input from class members on reunions. Feel free to contact us through the school with info.

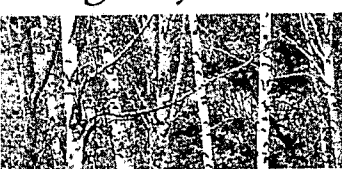

The association is always looking for money donations for our Memorial Student Assistance Award Fund. Anyone out there with any ideas for a fundraiser for our Memorial Fund, please help us out.

The next meeting is Oct. 26.

ESLYN F. BARTLETT

Eslyn Faye Bartlett, 86, of Rumford, the matriarch of the Bartlett family, finished her work on earth and joined her loved ones in the heavens on Sunday, Sept. 19, 2004, at Sedgewood Commons, Falmouth. She was a resident of Prospect Avenue, Rumford, and had lived in the area for many years.

"Essie" has left us with many tales of riding the pet pig, Effie, and hours spent with her dad at his blacksmith shop. She had a passion for dancing and loved swinging to the sounds of big band music. She cherished her Boston Terriers. Many of her retirement years were spent with her husband "Willie" on their motorcycle. She met her 'gorgeous blue eyed husband,' Charles Wilson Bartlett, at a grange hall dance. In her words, "they dated the rest of their lives together."

She was married in Bethel, on Dec. 24, 1937, to the late Charles W. "Will" Bartlett, who died in Newry on March 14, 1983.
